Candidates in the entrance examinations were required to write on five papers only—geography, drawing, arithmetic, penmanship and dictation and spelling and grammar and composition. To secure certificates it was necessary for those taking the examination to obtain an average of six per cent in these subjects and also to submit a statement from their teachers or principals certifying that they had covered the work prescribed for entrance candidates in history, literature, nature study and hygiene.

A statement of the marks obtained by their candidates will be sent to the teachers and the secretaries of the (Continued on page 4)

BITTER FIGHT ON NANAIMO CHURCH OPENS

Wide Split Between Unionists and Non-unionists

Sunday School Doors Locked to Old Superintendent

Bitter differences of Nanaimo Presbyterians on Church Union were brought before Mr. Justice Murphy in Supreme Court Chambers to-day. J. B. Clearihue appearing for the Unionists pressed for an injunction against St. Anne's Church in Nanaimo continuing as an independent church. He also attacked the vote on union, which J. H. Lawson for the Presbyterians claimed was four to one against union. After preliminary arguments, which promised a strenuous legal battle centered around the Nanaimo church his lordship adjourned the case for two weeks.

DRASTIC
J. B. Clearihue in making for an early date said the Rev. D. Lister, minister of the church, had adopted drastic tactics. All elders known to be unionists had been forced from the church. The doors had been locked to unionists and the door of the Sunday School had been bolted in the face of the Unionist Sunday School superintendent, and he had been refused permission to enter the Sunday School.

LIQUOR LADEN VESSEL CAPTURED BY NAVY SHIP IN SUBTLE NIGHT RAID

Chakawana With Shipment of Scotch Whisky Now in Government Hands; Mysterious Source of Cargo Thought to be "Phantom" Schooner on Pacific; Vancouver Seizure Made.

Brought in last night from Barkley Sound, having been captured at midnight on Tuesday by a party from the H.M.C.S. Armentieres, the liquor freighter Chakawana is now lying in harbor here having her cargo of Scotch whisky unloaded. At most simultaneously with the capture of this ship on the West Coast of the Island by the combined efforts of customs and navy men, the Dominion customs in Vancouver seized the boat Etta Mac. Both vessels are now in the hands of the Government agents. The cargo of the Chakawana, which is of Canadian registry, hailing from the port of Vancouver, is thought to have come from China. Last March a mysterious five-masted schooner, is reported to have left Shanghai, and allegedly she was loaded with whisky, narcotics and Chinese to be smuggled into Mexico.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT PLANS TO START BUILDING OF FOUR CRUISERS THIS FISCAL YEAR

London, July 23.—Premier Baldwin announced in the House of Commons to-day that the British Government's naval construction programme included two cruisers to be laid down in October, two next February and three yearly thereafter, making four cruisers to be constructed this fiscal year and three next year.

The Government also had decided upon the annual construction of nine destroyers and six submarines, together with certain auxiliary vessels, beginning with the financial year 1926-27, this programme to be continued during the normal life of the present Parliament, Mr. Baldwin announced.

Some of the new cruisers will conform to the existing 10,000-ton type, and the remainder will be smaller and less expensive, of a type approximating 5,000 tons, to be designed by the Admiralty.

The additional expenses this year, which Premier Baldwin estimated at £527,170 above the present navy estimates, would be met by the Admiralty with savings in other departments and with funds which are likely to accrue by not spending money appropriated.

SUICIDE VERDICT IN GORDON CASE

Returned Soldier Took Poison and Died Within Few Hours of Discovery

At the inquest held over the remains of Joseph Gordon this morning at the Thomson Funeral Parlors, a verdict of suicide while temporarily mentally deranged was brought in by the jury.

Death occurred, medical testimony said, from poisoning. Coroner E. C. Hart said that the case was plainly one of suicide. The deceased was found near death yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, in the office rooms of the Tuberculosis Veterans' Association, Brown Block, and was rushed to the hospital, where he died before noon.

With the man was found a bottle containing a mixture of carbolic acid.

He leaves, besides his wife, a sister, Etta, in Glasgow, Scotland; a brother, Alexander, in Vancouver, and another brother, David, in Australia. He is a native of Glasgow, and was a resident of Victoria for sixteen years prior to his coming here, where the first battalion to be recruited in Vancouver for service in France. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon from the Thomson Funeral Parlors at 2:30 o'clock, Canon Hinchey officiating, and interment will be made at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

ONLY WORKERS IN BRITISH COAL MINES AFTER JULY 31 WILL BE MAINTENANCE MEN

Executive of Miners' Federation of Great Britain Has Decided Members of Unions Are to Cease Labors as Result of Dispute on Wages and Hours With Owners; Flooding of Pits to be Prevented.

London, July 23.—A general strike of all union coal miners in Great Britain will begin August 1, the miners' executive decided at a meeting here to-night.

The miners' executive, in deciding to instruct the workers to quit their jobs July 31, the date of the expiration of the present working agreement with the owners, provided for the minimum number of "safety men" to remain at work to prevent flooding or other damage to the mines.

TO PROVIDE FUNDS

As soon as the various branches have voted in favor of the scheme, all power will pass into the hands of the executive body and the union funds will be at the disposal of the alliance.

In any extreme situation the alliance also would have power to declare a general strike or to declare a strike by any one union without the necessity of a ballot by the members.

Trade union members of the House of Commons last night sent a resolution to A. J. Cook, secretary of the Miners' Federation, protesting against the mine owners' "degrading attempt to reduce the miners to abject slavery."

B.C. REVISES ITS RATE CASE TO FIT NEW RATE POLICY

Premier and McGeer Prepare to Protect Province in National Rate Revision

B.C. in Entirely New Position Legally as Result of Recent Developments

Revision of British Columbia's freight rate case to make it conform to new rate regulation passed at the recent session of Parliament will be started by G. G. McGeer, Government rate counsel, immediately. Announcement to this effect was made by Premier Oliver this afternoon after he had conferred at length with Mr. McGeer.

The changes made in the Railway Act at the recent parliamentary session puts British Columbia in an entirely new legal position," the Premier explained. "We have rights which we did not have before, and consequently our position must be revised in accordance with these changes."

"My understanding is that the Railway Board intends to deal with freight rates on a case-by-case basis. We do not know what the exact procedure will be, but we must be prepared to protect British Columbia's interests in whatever developments may occur."

"Consequently Mr. McGeer has been instructed to go ahead now with the revision of our position."

NO ELECTION STATEMENT IN EARLY FUTURE

Ottawa Dispatch Says Immediate Decision by Federal Ministry is Unlikely

Cabinet Reorganization Discussed; Senate and Other Vacancies to be Filled

Ottawa, July 23.—With contradictory rumors in regard to an Autumn Federal general election in the air, the Cabinet will meet on Monday next for serious consideration of the situation. The meeting, which will be largely attended, is not unlikely to prove the first of a number of meetings at which the political situation will be thoroughly canvassed and views for and against early dissolution of Parliament presented. Ministers who have been scattered to the four corners of the country, resting after the strenuous session of Parliament, will rally for the Monday meeting and state their views.

CHIEF QUESTION

The most important matter which the Premier King and his colleagues is the decision in regard to an election appeal and there will be no haste in dealing with it. Ostensibly the Cabinet meeting which has been set for Monday will deal with business which has accumulated since the few Ministers then in town gathered two weeks ago. Unquestionably routine business, of which there undoubtedly is an accumulation, will be dealt with, but it is safe to say it will occupy but a small part of the time devoted to the coming meetings. It is said there (Continued on page 2)

VISITING LAW OFFICERS EXPRESS DELIGHT AT HOSPITALITY RECEIVED

Ovation Greeted Mayor Pendray and Chief Fry in Rising to Speak at Last Night's Banquet in the Hudson's Bay Building; Visiting Ladies Are Guests to Law Officers at Brilliant Function.

Victoria's reputation as a convention centre was roundly upheld by the visiting law enforcement officers of the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police at the banquet held in the Hudson's Bay Building. Luke S. May, re-elected president of the association paid a glowing tribute to the hospitality with which the delegates had been received. He said in part:

"No words of mine can express adequately the appreciation members of the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police feel for the manner in which we were received by the citizens of Victoria, nor our gratitude for the wonderful hospitality of your beautiful city. This convention has far eclipsed any of the previous gatherings of this organization. We were delighted to come here, and I am sure many of us if the opportunity is afforded to us and we get money enough to retire in our later years, will come to spend our last days in Victoria."

"There is no question but that this organization stands to-day in a premier position on the North American continent—there is no parallel to the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police, which takes into its membership all who have to do with the enforcement of law and order, from the bench to the bar, the chief of police to his youngest officer."

"If I may be pardoned for reviewing the history of the association at this stage, it was four years ago that the N.W.A.S.P. was founded. To-day it has five times the initial membership. It is the only organization of its kind that aims at securing the harmonious co-operation of all agencies for the preservation of law and order for the welfare of the public at large. It has built up a community of interest that will, I know, lead to great developments in the years ahead."

"There is not a judge on the bench of those States of the Union in which we have members that has not sent us a letter wishing every success to this conference. That is unique in itself, but I feel that we can now expect the public at large to have no words to convey to you our appreciation for the way in which we have been received and of the hospitality extended to us in Victoria."

CHIEF FRY CHEERED

Rousing applause greeted Chief John Fry, Victoria, when he rose to reply. Chief Fry assured the delegates that Victoria had extracted a great deal of pride and pleasure from her role as a conference centre of the association this year. He expressed the hope that delegates would not look on the visit as the end but rather as the beginning of a cordial friendship which would ripen and be enriched with the flight of successive years.

As chairman of the banquet Mayor J. Carl Pendray proved the life of the evening, and made a genial and witty spokesman on behalf of the city. The banquet proved to be one of the most successful functions of the entire entertainment programme of the conference. It was attended by a solid membership of the visiting delegates, their wives and friends. Good cordial and lively humor marked the after-dinner addresses, and it was a jolly crowd that adjourned at 10.30 p.m. after the three-hour function.

DANCING FOLLOWED

Most of the delegates repaired to the police headquarters, where an informal dance added a fitting climax to the evening. The farewell ball will be staged to-night, after a brief business session in the morning and drives in the afternoon.

L. V. Jenkins, chief of police, Portland, Oregon, re-seated as vice-president of the association, yesterday re-joined the delegates in honor in a brief but happily worded address.

U.S. CITIZEN KILLED BY CHINA BANDITS

Mr. Palmer, his mother, Dr. Howard and his son James and a trader named Baldwin of Kalgan, Chihli province, together with his wife and child, were visiting Palmer's ranch, which is in the Manchurian province of Kirin, when the attack was made. The consular report says Dr. Howard last night was still in captivity. The others are "safe for the present," but their whereabouts are not known.

The United States consul at Mukden has gone to see the military Governor of Kirin in an effort to effect the release of Dr. Howard.

Officials here were manifestly distressed over the killing of one United States citizen and the capture of another yesterday by Chinese bandits, but there was no indication the development would interrupt negotiations in progress for a friendly effort by the powers to help China out of her domestic troubles.

RAIN ADDS MILLIONS OF BUSHELS TO ALBERTA CROP

MacLeod, Alta., July 23.—The whole crop situation in Southern Alberta is improving hourly to-day as a steady downpour of rain continues over the whole wheat-growing area from Medicine Hat to the Rocky Mountains. Late though it is, the rain will add millions of bushels to the crop and make feed where the long drought had done deadly work.

MOST ISLAND FIRES NOW UNDER CONTROL AS WEATHER COOLS

Lightning Hits Interior and Starts New Outbreaks But Fighters Make Progress

Break in Hot Spell Results in Marked Improvement Throughout Province

No forest fire on Vancouver Island is out of control now, except the conflagration reported as spreading towards Granite Bay, conditions on the Coast have shown substantial improvement and the situation in the Interior is easier. That is the summary of the fire situation compiled by officials of the forestry service here to-day after they had received telegraphic reports from their rangers.

While it is impossible to extinguish fires altogether in this weather, the burning on the Island has been brought under complete control now. The biggest fire on the Island is at Union Bay where it has been burning for a long time. It is being confined to the limits and is not expected to break beyond them unless weather conditions take a turn for the worse. The chief danger to be feared at this stage is a high wind which would whip the flames into renewed fury.

Lightning has caused the outbreak of a number of new fires in the Interior, which has prevailed for several days. While this has added to the difficulties of fire-fighters they have been able to bring many of the fires under control. Some of the larger outbreaks, however, are still ravaging timber and cannot be halted in this weather. The present lull in the dry hot weather, which has prevailed for several weeks, is being utilized by rangers to consolidate their defensive lines.

KOOTENAY SITUATION

Nelson, July 23.—Fire conditions to-day were regarded as the best for several days, the fires generally not spreading much, although reports last night showed that lightning in many parts of the Kootenay last night had new fires, including several around the Bridge and Rock Creek, which are in the Kettle Valley, two across the Arrow Lake from Edgewood and one at Falls Creek near Nelson.

Rain fell yesterday at Fernon, where one of the largest fires in the Kootenay has been burning for days.

BIG WELCOME FOR U.S. FLEET IN AUSTRALIA

Melbourne was ready. The most elaborate reception arrangements had been completed, with no detail overlooked.

WELCOMED BY PRESS

Lengthy articles appeared in today's newspapers warmly welcoming the fleet, emphasizing the blood relationship of the peoples of the United States and Australia. Messages from high officials of both the Federal and State Governments and the Lord Mayor of Melbourne, also were printed.

The Victoria Legislature stands adjourned for three weeks to enable its members to participate in the welcome.

SYDNEY'S RECEPTION

Sydney, N.S.W., July 23.—Admiral Robson, commander of the United States fleet, was cheered heartily to-day when he stepped ashore amid a salute of seventeen guns. The ceremony was witnessed by a large crowd, after which the admiral made a number of official calls.

The parade of 2,000 officers and men from the fleet detachment this afternoon was a thrilling spectacle. The line of march was flanked with spectators, who extended an enthusiastic greeting.

Sir Dudley Dechair, Governor of New South Wales, took the salute. The tremendously enthusiastic reception recalled the welcome given the United States White Fleet in August, 1908.

PUBLIC HOLIDAY

Unusually good weather featured the entry of the United States warships, and the day was observed as a public holiday. The city was thronged with visitors from all parts of New South Wales.

SENATORS DEFEND RED CHAMBER AND CRITICIZE MANSON

Liquor Legislation Rejected By Senate Not Necessary, Barnard Asserts

Green Predicts Early Election; Oliver Government Attacked by Pooley

In speeches before the Victoria Conservative Association last night, Senator R. F. Green and G. H. Barnard warmly defended the Canadian Senate from attacks which have been launched against it of late from all parts of Canada. Senator Green termed the Upper Chamber the bulwark of Canadian liberties and a sure agency for the prevention of undesirable legislation, while Senator Barnard asserted that the Senate was perfectly justified in rejecting the liquor legislation sponsored by the British Columbia Government.

Senator Green warned the Conservatives that an election was coming soon, and he urged them to get together and run out the Government. He predicted that the election would be a contest between the two old parties as the Progressives had lost strength all along the line. The tariff, he believed, would be the big issue of the forthcoming campaign. Industrial concerns throughout the Dominion were losing money as a result of the Government's mishandling of the tariff problem, he charged. Another big question facing the Canadian people, he said, was the condition of the Canadian National Railways. Some remedy for their present losses, he asserted, must be found. A government strong enough to put the railways on a paying basis should be elected, he urged.

ATTACKS MANSON

Senator Green launched into a warm attack on Attorney-General Manson, as for Mr. Manson's effort to stop the private importation of liquor into British Columbia. Mr. Green suspected that this was merely an attempt to secure control of the liquor exporters and gain campaign funds from them.

LEGISLATION UNNECESSARY

Senator Barnard's main points in defence of the Senate's recent action on liquor legislation were that the legislation was not required in the first place, and, secondly, that Canada had sufficient prohibitory laws on its statute books now. He said that the real desire of Mr. Manson in pressing for the liquor legislation could be secured otherwise. The Provincial Government could abolish liquor warehouses if it wished to do so by refusing consent to their operations, he stated. While Mr. Manson claimed that he had no power to refuse to grant warehouse authorizations, he had never gone to the courts to find out his real powers, the Senator went on. He believed that a law forbidding liquor export warehouses to store liquor would have passed the Senate a few weeks ago but the bill introduced had been as controversial as possible.

UNIVERSITY EXPENDITURES

R. H. Pooley, provincial Conservative leader, outlined to the meeting what he said would be the first of the Government's handling of B.C. University building work. The Government, he said, had committed itself to expenditures of $1,300,000 over the Legislature's appropriation for University buildings. He said that the Conservative Party was making good progress in its suits against Mr. Bryan, M.P.P. for North Vancouver, and Mr. J. E. Collier, M.P.P. for Kamloops, whom the opposition in the Legislature had been attempting to unseat.

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P. for Victoria, outlined to the meeting the programme for the Conservative picnic at the Willows Beach on August 5.

LIGHTNING KILLED SEVERAL IN FRANCE

Torrential Rains Accompanied Thunderstorms in That Country Yesterday

Paris, July 23.—Violent French Cables, via Reuters.—Violent thunderstorms accompanied by torrential rains, were general in all parts of France yesterday. Widespread damage was done in Paris by the storm, and a number of people were killed by lightning in various parts of France.

In the Bordeaux district a wind approaching the force of a cyclone inflicted great damage to the vineyards and corn crops. Telegraph and telephone communications were interrupted for a while.

In the upper Garonne district, floods caused by the heavy rains carried away a factory and the crops were considerably damaged by the floods. Two bridges were destroyed. The railroad between Luchon and Montrejeau was swept away in places and a car with four occupants disappeared altogether.

COUNT DE CIVRY'S SUIT IS FAILURE

Paris, July 23.—Count de Civry has discontinued his suit in the Paris courts to upset the will of the Duke of Brunswick, who, dying in 1875, left a fortune then valued at 312,000,000 francs to the city of Geneva.

The count claims to be the natural heir of the Duke, but a copy of a letter recently found in England by which the count expected to prove his descent was not admitted in the French court as legal proof and a non-suit action resulted.

GREAT DAMAGE BY STORMS IN FRANCE

Heat Wave Ended With Big Disturbances; Floods in Paris Streets

Several Valleys in Country
Under Water; Much Wheat
Was Beaten Flat

Paris, July 23.—A series of electrical storms last night brought an end to the heat wave from which France had suffered for many days. Much damage was done throughout the country. The deluge descended on Paris for several hours, making streets impassable. Lightning struck a store in the west end of the city, wrecking it and injuring the proprietor. In Normandy the apple and wheat crops and vines damaged by the wind and hail amounted to several million francs. Immense damage is reported from the southwestern section of France. In the eastern Pyrenees the Layrisse and Pique Valleys are under water. A factory was carried away by a flood at Luchon and the village of Clerp is submerged. Its inhabitants took refuge on the roofs of their homes. The garrison at St. Gaudens has gone to their rescue.

Whole fields of wheat in Beauce, one of the most famous wheat regions of Europe, were beaten flat. Hailstones fell in Bordeaux to a depth of three inches, choking the sewers so that many streets became impassable. The famous vineyards of the region suffered heavily.

INDIANS PAID

Ottawa, July 23.—More than 4,000 Indians of the James Bay district received their treaty money with unprecedented promptness this year. The trip to distribute the money usually takes more than two months. This year the work was accomplished in three weeks by means of a seaplane of the Ontario Provincial Air Service.

NO FREIGHT RATE MANITOBA APPEAL

Winnipeg, July 23.—The right of Manitoba to appeal in connection with the old 1901 agreement with the Canadian Northern Railway regarding freight rates within the province has been refused by the Privy Council in London. It was announced by the Attorney-General's Department yesterday. Proceedings were taken by the province to determine the right of the Federal Government to abrogate the agreement and place the freight rate question of the province under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

CANNIBALISM IN INDIAN TERRITORY

Man, Woman and Child Reported Eaten in Northwest Saskatchewan

Indian Hunter Found Bones; Reported Matter to Provincial Police

Prince Albert, July 23.—A tale of cannibalism in the far reaches of Saskatchewan, north of Fond du Lac, last winter, brought about by one of the worst famines in years, was told by H. C. Twigg, manager of the Revillon Freres Trading Company's post at Clear Lake, 570 miles northwest of Prince Albert, who arrived here yesterday.

Mr. Twigg declared an old Indian hunter and trapper, whose Christian name is Michael Archie, told him the Eskimos north of Fond du Lac, driven to desperation by hunger, killed and ate a man, woman and child of the Chipewyan Indian tribe last winter. The aged trapper told of finding the bones of the victims and the places where the bodies had been boiled over a fire and eaten, and Mr. Twigg understood, had also informed Constable Chappuis, of the provincial police at Fond du Lac of the tragedy.

FOUR KILLED BY LIGHTNING BOLTS

Destructive Storms Visited
Northeastern Part of United States Yesterday

Landslide in Vermont; Crops
in Large Area Flattened

New York, July 23.—Four persons were killed by lightning in Metropolitan New York and Southern New Jersey yesterday. Crops of tobacco, hay and grain were flattened by a severe rainstorm in New England and upstate New York.

A fourteen-year-old boy was killed by lightning in Brooklyn when he attempted to climb a tree to dislodge a cat. A woman was killed at her sewing machine in Somers Point, N.J. A laborer was killed under a tree near Westchester, and a soldier was struck dead while on duty at Fort Slocum.

There were no fatalities in New England, but the storm swept down barns, flooded streets and cellars and washed out railroad tracks. Trolley service and wire communication were impeded.

LANDSLIDE SEEN

At Rutland, Vermont, the storm started a landslide down Mount Taber, cutting a swath fifteen rods wide and a mile long through valuable timber and blocking roads.

In North Hatfield, Mass., the heart of the tobacco district, three barns were razed by the wind. Standing crops were levelled and roads washed out with a loss of $50,000.

SPECTACULAR FIRE IN CITY OF REGINA

Plant of Oil Company Was Destroyed; Loss Estimated at $150,000

Five Firemen Slightly Injured
While Preventing Spread of Flames

Regina, July 23.—In one of this city's most spectacular fires, the plant of the Canadian Oil Company Limited was destroyed this morning shortly after midnight. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

Greater damage was averted through the strenuous work of the firemen, who kept the flames from twelve large tanks containing over 3,000,000 gallons of gasoline and about 20,000,000 gallons of motor oil. Those tanks were about five feet from the blazing warehouse.

Five firemen were slightly injured. For three hours whole barrels of flaming liquid were hurled through the air the distance of a city block by explosions of gas drums and oil tanks.

CAPILANO TIMBER

IN PATH OF FIRE

Little or Nothing Now on Which to Pay Royalty

Vancouver, July 23.—Civic officials are puzzling over the status of the claim of the Provincial Government for payment of royalty on the timber which once stood on the 170 acres purchased by the city last February on Capilano watershed, to prevent logging of the area.

The area, so much in the public eye a few months ago, was also in the track of recent fires which swept such a large acreage of the watershed. Now there appears to be little or nothing on which to pay royalty.

BLANCHERS COLLAPSED

VICTORIA GUESTS AT SMART WEDDING IN WESTMINSTER

Miss Violet Nelson Marries G. D. Lockyer, Son of H.B. Co. Official

A number of Victoria guests were invited to a smart wedding which took place at St. Mary's Church, Sapperton, yesterday afternoon, the principals being Miss Violet Louise Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Nelson, Queen's Avenue, New Westminster, and Mr. Albert David D. Lockyer, son of Mr. Henry T. Lockyer, general manager of the Hudson's Bay Company stores in British Columbia, and Mrs. Lockyer, Burnaby Street, Vancouver. Bishop de Penier performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Frank Plankett.

The bride was extremely attractive in her French wedding gown of hand-embroidered ivory georgette and rare old Garmacross lace. A diaphanous veil of embroidered silk net was fastened in Juliet cap effect, held in place by wreath of orange blossoms. Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley formed a shower bouquet.

Miss Edna Nelson, as maid of honor, wore a frock of silver-touched orchid chiffon and blonde lace, with picture hat en suite. She carried a quaint colonial bouquet of baby roses and mauve sweet peas. Miss Freda Nelson was a picturesque bridesmaid in a semi-bouffant frock of honey-dew georgette and blonde lace. Streamers of turquoise blue and French flowers created colorful notes. Her broad-brimmed capeline was in harmonizing tones and she carried pastel-tinted sweet peas and baby's breath.

At the reception that followed Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Lockyer, mothers of the principals, were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Sydney Fletcher, the bride's matron sister. Cut grey velvet fashioned Mrs. Nelson's handsome gown and with it she wore an orchid hat of sheer moiré. Mrs. Lockyer had chosen a beautiful imported frock of chrysanthemum flat crepe and becoming picture hat, graced by an asprey mount. Mrs. Fletcher wore a pretty frock of figured georgette. Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Lockyer left by motor for the South, and on their return will reside in Vancouver.

Among the Victorians invited to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Monat and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Macdonald.

London, July 23.—The correspondence of the Westminster Gazette at Bath says Dr. William E. Gye, a member of the British Institute of Medical Research, and Dr. J. E. INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION ON CRIME PREVENTION IS STRONGLY URGED BY POLICE Immediate Attention to Rapid Increase of Crime With Legislation to Curb Growing Lawlessness Is Sought by Law Officers in Closing Session.

The appointment of an international commission to make a searching investigation into the source and prevention of crime to the end that remedial legislation may be enacted to stop the crime wave sweeping the continent with increasing force every year was urged by the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police in the closing hours of the four-day anti-crime conference here this morning. The resolution carried reads as follows:

"Whereas crime in the United States and the Dominion of Canada is increasing at a rate challenging the attention of the best minds of both nations; now, therefore, be it resolved that at the meeting to be held at the headquarters of the respective governments, to the end that a commission may be appointed to make a searching study of the source and prevention of crime to the end that proper legislation may be enacted for the good of all citizens."

The resolution came as a result of a suggestion made by President Luke S. May in his annual report, a survey of the situation that showed the serious increase of crime and lawlessness and drawing attention to the urgent need for more effective measures to cope with the situation.

The necessity for uniform automobile traffic and registration laws to cope with the successful efforts of auto thieves was the subject of another resolution passed. This drew the attention of the authorities to existing conditions and urged a uniform set of regulations to deal with the situation. The resolution, which carried unanimously, was that the necessary steps be taken to bring about uniformity in the enforcement of laws.

Another resolution of importance was that addressed to the study of modern methods of crime prevention and detection. This urged that universities all over the United States and Canada be supplicated to create chairs of criminology for the purpose of modern methods in the prevention of crime. Training along these lines would be welcomed, and would prove a great factor in promoting the efficiency of all law enforcement bodies, said the resolution.

OFFICERS—Business this morning included the election of district vice-presidents and the Board of Governors of the association. John Fry, chief of police, Victoria, was appointed vice-president for British Columbia. Col. J. H. McMullin, superintendent of provincial police, Inspector J. H. Gowan, inspector of C.P.R. Police, Vancouver, were appointed governors for that province.

For Alberta, Lieut.-Col. W. C. Bryan was appointed vice-president, and Chief James Taylor, Medicine Hat, and A. G. Shute, Edmonton, governors.

For Idaho, T. L. Quarles was chosen vice-president, and Messrs. A. Carlson, F. A. Jeter and R. G. Warne, governors.

For Oregon, S. E. Krotson was appointed governor, and Messrs. L. A. Harms, W. S. Stevens and Sheriff Slusher, governors.

Captain W. H. Searing, Seattle, was chosen vice-president for Washington, with Messrs. Joel S. Hindman, Matt Starwich, and W. A. Thompson as governors.

For Montana, Thomas I. Bolton became vice-president and Messrs. J. L. Hardman, H. Farnum, governors with one seat yet to be filled by the state of Montana. Chief of Detectives of San Francisco was chosen vice-president for California, assisted by Messrs. Harry H. Weller and A. C. Scheppe as governors.

In Utah Joseph E. Burbage became vice-president, and Messrs. John Zunker, Boyd, and R. H. Wooten, governors. Wyoming and Nevada delegates were not present today to name their men.

Joel S. Hindman, the audit committee, reported the financial affairs of the association in order with a credit balance.

In connection with uniform crime records, warmly advocated on the convention floor Chief L. V. Jenkins of Portland stated his belief in the need of a uniform system of crime records, and that the same crime records should be available to all law enforcement bodies. The excellent papers read at the convention were voiced by Inspector Shobenham, R.C.M. who stated his department was fully alive to the value of gathering of this nature and had taken a keen interest in the conference just completed.

J. D. Boyd, sheriff of Provo, Utah, the long-distance delegate to the convention, expressed his pleasure at the standard of discussion maintained and stated he felt his trouble in coming far to attend the gathering had been repaid one hundred fold. Similar sentiments were voiced by upwards of fifty other delegates from different states and provinces in the northwest.

Credit on every hand was given to Chief John Fry, Superintendent J. H. McMullin and Sheriff H. W. Goggin, the local management committee, who made arrangements for the gathering here. Unlimited praise was voiced to Manager Wilson for the comfort of the delegates at the Empress Hotel, and to Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Buchart for throwing open their beautiful gardens to delegates this afternoon.

The drive to the Sunken Gardens and a farewell ball at police headquarters this evening will close the convention proceedings here.

The question of next year's convention site was left in the hands of the executive. Bellingham, Walla Walla, and Spokane were mentioned, and the opinion expressed that some centre east of the Cascade Mountains should be chosen to give eastern men an opportunity of attending. The east of attendance of Police Chiefs and others, felt the police commissions and public bodies and representations will be made to that end. Again voicing their appreciation for the hospitality of Victoria, the delegates adjourned their final business session at noon today.

SWIMMING MAY BECOME SUNDAY PASTIME SOON

Crystal Garden Open on Sundays if Vice-President Coleman Agrees

Public demands to use the Crystal Garden on Sundays, outside of church hours, have become insistent in the course of the past two weeks, and this morning Vice-president D. C. Coleman of the Western Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway was appealed to by telegraph for his views upon the matter.

Mayor Pendray, as chairman of the Police Commission, this morning assured the management of the Crystal Garden that no objection to operation would be officially taken, provided strict attention to closure during church hours is observed. He suggested that closure between 10 o'clock and midday on Sunday mornings, and similar action between 6 o'clock and 8:30 p.m., would be quite satisfactory to all concerned.

Every Sunday since the "Crystal Garden" was officially opened there have been hundreds of disappointed parties turned away from the bathing pool, as many as a score of automobiles being outside the resort at onetime during many afternoons.

PENDRAY BUSINESS GROWTH OUTLINED TO ROTARY CLUB

Origin of Famous Local Paint Industry Sketched by H. J. Pendray

An outline by H. J. Pendray of the growth of the Pendray soap and paint industries, from the early days of Victoria to the present extensive operations, featured today's luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Pendray recalled that his father, the founder of the industries, had first arrived in Victoria in 1868, returning to England with a fortune earned in the goldfields. After a few years' residence in Victoria, he returned to the soap business with a kitchen stove and a few kettles.

The business prospered, and in 1880 he ventured into paint manufacturing, operations being carried on for a number of years in the building now used as a laundry by the Empress Hotel. Carl Pendray, now mayor of the city, was the salesman, being credited with the reputation of being the youngest commercial traveler in this Province.

In summary of the expansion of the past few years was given, and an outline of the methods of meeting competition by increasing service to the firm's clients and the public, with the wide advertising of better quality products than the average, proved of interest.

Rev. P. A. Chadwick expressed the regrets of the Rotarians at the forthcoming removal of vice-president W. N. Kelly to Vancouver. "Bill has been one of our best Rotarians in the club and how we shall get along without him, I am sure I do not know," he said, amid applause.

Mr. Kelly will be assuming the post of one acting as business manager, tending concern, and expressed regret because of termination of his connection with Rotary.

MANY QUESTIONS—An unusually large attendance of visiting Rotarians featured the luncheon, fifteen members from clubs in New York, California, Oregon and Alberta being present, while Rotarian W. Shelley of the Vancouver Parks Board was straightly charged with being in Victoria intent upon abduction of Ursus Kermode, to replace the Vancouver polar bear which recently died.

COURT ORDER PARTS MOTHER AND CHILDREN

Weeping Girls Cling to Hysterical Mother in Courtroom

"I do not propose to interfere with the order of the Chief Justice. I am loth to separate a mother from her children but I would feel a tremendous moral responsibility if I were to reverse the order and leave these girls in charge of their mother living under the conditions they have been living under," said Mr. Justice Murphy in Supreme Court Chambers this morning after hearing the story of a mother's fight to retain her two girls in the face of an order placing the custody with the father.

F. L. Shaw, appearing for Mrs. Eva Hedger, wife of a Salt Spring Island farmer sought to reverse the order. J. B. Clearidge appeared for the father, Arthur Hedger.

When the decision was given the two fair-haired girls who listened to the story of domestic infelicity with tear-filled eyes, broke into loud crying and clung to the mother who became hysterical. The father sat motionless and left the mother with the children for some time before he took them into his own care again.

"I go out to work for them," the mother said when asked how she kept the two girls. She told a sad tale of a home wrecked as the result of trouble which the husband alleged started over domestic infelicity. "I work for them. Yes, I work hard. I only get $10 a month but we make it do."

"The woman I work for keeps the children too," she said in answer to questions. "I manage to keep them clothed out of the $10 and with help of people who let me have clothes to make over."

They were married eighteen years ago in Surrey, England, she told the court. There were five children.

"No matter how he treated me, there was no need for him to treat those little girls as he did," she said. "He ran them off the farm. The youngest was quite sick with the result of his treatment. He seems to have no use for them."

"I would rather live with my mother," the eldest girl of twelve years firmly replied to a question as to whose home she preferred.

The husband entered a strenuous denial to allegations of cruelty to his wife and children. He complained of her going to dances with another man.

"I have a six-room house, twenty acres, awaiting him and I work out, too. I took the farm under the soldier settlement plan and I am in good standing with the board," he said.

Salt Spring Island residents gave Hedger the character of a hard-working, straightforward and industrious farmer.

Uncle Wiggily's Late Firecracker

(By Howard R. Garis)

"Come here! Come here, quick!" whispered the Fuzzy Fox to the Fuzzie Wolf, who was visiting the fox in his den one day. "Come here, my friend, and listen to this talk!"

The fox happened to be at the telephone. He was talking to Uncle But-ter. There was a chime of bells in his ears and his pen mouth showed his sharp teeth as he listened at the telephone.

"What was it you heard?" asked the Wolf as he shuffled across the lone floor in the den of the Fox.

"The telephone wires were crossed, like a word puzzle," went on the Fox in a whisper. "I was calling up the ch-cat to find out if he had any tick catching that rabbit, when, all of a sudden, I heard Uncle Wiggily himself speaking into my ear by the telephone."

"Do you mean he is in the Bob at's den?" asked the Wolf.

"No," answered the Fox. "The wires were crossed. I tell you, Uncle Wiggily, in his hollow stump bungal-ow, was talking to Uncle But-ter, the roat, who was in his own house. But he heard every word they said. Here, you listen."

The Wolf listened at the Fox's telephone.

All he heard was Uncle Wiggily and Uncle But-ter telling each other "good-bye," said the Wolf as he hung up the telephone receiver.

"Ah, yes, but before that I heard Uncle Wiggily say he would go over to Uncle But-ter's house to-night and play Scotch checkers with him," said the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily said he could stay late because his wife had gone away and Nurse Jane didn't mind when he came in."

"Well, what of it?" asked the Wolf.

"This!" went on the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily will be coming home through the woods. We can hide beside the path, jump out at him and nibble his ears before he knows it. By listen- ing to the crossed wires I have found out a way to catch that rabbit. Will you help?"

The Wolf said he would. So the two had chaps, late at night, hid themselves beside the path along which Uncle Wiggily must hop to get to his hollow stump bungalow.

"Here he comes!" suddenly whispered the Fox.

"Yes, I see him," whispered the

SERIAL STORY

"THE LOVE CYCLE"

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

Tucking the books that Mansfield had wrapped for her under her arm and drawing her "lam" snugly down over her hair, she plunged resolutely into the snow that was fast obliterating the familiar landmarks of the down town streets. In the darkness she missed the right turn and found herself on a side street that was not the one that she had intended to take. She was quickly as her light feet could carry her to the nearest trolley.

When she reached home, the household was in a state of excitement. The maid who opened the door informed her that her father had come home very ill, a doctor had been summoned, and Mrs. Marlowe, who was pouring tea at a fashionable reception, had been sent for.

Jane put down her books and stood by the open fireplace in the living hall, warming her hands. She felt no alarm, neither did she understand. But that curious wisdom, which was later to direct her life and of others dear to her, made the situation clear and understandable. She even felt a little pity for her mother who arrived later, panic-stricken and contrite.

After that night, her father was no longer an ideal to her, and when the catastrophe arrived, as she was on the threshold of womanhood, she accepted it with smiling equanimity.

From the doorway of the dark, closely shuttered house, she saw her father emerge. He walked slowly, hunched, and he was supported by two people. One was Edward Weston, the other was a woman Jane had never seen before.

She was pretty and very smart. Her hair was dressed more elaborately than Mrs. Marlowe's, who always followed an exaggerated fashion. Her waist was slimmer than any Jane had ever seen. Jane caught the flash of jewels on her fingers, and the glint of buckles on frivolous slippers that sunk ankle-deep in the snow.

Her first instinct to run to her father, whom she felt must be very ill, was stifled by something that she read, but did not understand, in the faces of Weston and the strange impulses which prompted him to marriage with Helen. He would look at her then, seated across the hearthstone, her hands busy with her interminable needlework, her eyes preoccupied with her exaggerated sense of domestic responsibility, her ears tuned to catch the slightest discord which might ruin the harmony of the marriage to which she was a slave, and he would seek in vain to find that elusive charm, that wild-roose magic that had once lured him to her arms.

In those later years, all he could remember of his youthful romance was a June night, warm and starry and fragrant. The Weston's garden was wrapped in the velvety darkness pierced through by the scent of oleanders and honeysuckle. Helen and Hal sat in a hammock swung between two cedars, through whose feathery branches the stars shone. Their light touched Helen's shining hair and lent mysterious shadows to her eyes. Her face was a soft, white blur. Mansfield could remember her lips, fresh and curved and rose-red.

He could remember, too, because his sense of beauty increased with years, that she wore a white ruffled gown with a blue ribbon sash that emphasized the slenderness of her waist. He did the only natural thing. He took her in his arms and kissed her. It was a very awkward kiss. It was Helen's first kiss and her lips were quivering. Hal had never kissed a girl seriously before. In those later years he looked down rather sadly, too, because he knew that he could never recapture its thrill, awkward and artless as it was.

When he released Helen, that June night of their betrothal, he was silent, speechless with new-found emotions. But not so with Helen. With complete poise, she touched her disheveled hair, fluffed up her crushed ruffles, and, looking at him earnestly, said:

"Shall we be married in October, Hal?"

Momentarily, it was staggering to Hal. He had known all along that some day he was going to marry Helen, but putting the idea into definite words was distinctly disconcerting. He loved her and he wanted her, but marriage was something which he had always associated with the vague, distant future. He was too young yet to have felt the desire for most normal men sooner or later.

But with Helen's slim young body so close to his, with her red lips upturned invitingly, he thrust aside the voice that prompted him to caution and consideration, and gathering her again in his arms, he said huskily, with his lips against her hair:

"You can't make it too soon for me, sweetheart."

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

DAY DREAMS 7-15

Like all women, Helen thrilled to this apparent eagerness of love.

But deep in her heart was embedded the idea of an October wedding. She had dreamed it all out when she was a very young girl, she saw the family church at the fashionable hour of 4 o'clock with the late Autumn sunlight shining through the stained-glass windows. She saw the altar decked with golden chrysantheums and crimson leaves. She saw a choir full vested, and a minister, perhaps even a bishop, in purple robes. She saw pews reserved for the families with great bouquets of chrysanthemums tied with golden tulle to mark their entrance. She saw herself in bridal satin and old lace, with eight bridesmaids, marching two by two, gown in pink and blue and green and orchid. She saw a little flower girl in ruffled organdie scattering rose petals in her path, and the vast congregation turning to watch her own progress down the church aisle with murmurs of admiration.

Of the man who would wait for her there at the altar, she thought very little, except to be glad that he was young and strong and handsome, and that her girl friend would envy her conquest. Of the significance of marriage, of its responsibilities, she thought not at all. Her idea of marriage was a safe haven to which all girls who wished any measure of success must inevitably drift. Her vision of home was a charming new house outfitted with the smartest furniture of the period, a place where she would give pleasant little luncheons and card parties, preferably to her unmarried friends, and proudly display the silver and damask and china which would comprise her wedding gifts.

To Helen, these superficialities meant marriage and life.

In October, her dreams came true, without one varying detail. For ten years she had dreamed. Hal learned to live by her code.

The young Mansfields had been married a year and their first baby was shortly to arrive when Jordan Marlowe died.

Some people fade out of life easily, almost unnoticed except for their tribute of sorrow from their immediate family. Not so with Marlowe. He had lived fully, pretentiously, even picturesquely, giving to the smallest detail of everyday life a dramatic intensity. Like his wife, he adored display. He wore clothes that no other man in town could have afforded to wear, both from a standpoint of money and personal taste. He was always talked about for his flirtings, although Mrs. Marlowe's exaggerated vanity re-refused to admit the existence of a rival.

Marlowe's death then, in accordance with his life, was no mere passing of an ordinary soul. It caused three very definite changes in the lives of other people.

In the first place, his decease left a vacancy in the Weston Motors which young Mansfield was the logical person to fill. His father-in-law refused to take him into the firm until he had served a longer apprenticeship, but there was no doubt whatever that he would one day make his son-in-law a full partner in a business which was beginning to amass millions.

Toronto Mother Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a splendid medicine to take before and after confinement. A small book was put in my door one day advertising Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, and as I did not feel at all well at the time I went and got a bottle of Vegetable Compound right away. I soon began to notice a difference in my general health. I was full of aches and pains at the time and thought I had every complaint going, but I can truthfully say your medicine certainly did me good. I can and will speak highly of it, and I know it will do other women good who are sick and ailing if they will only give it a fair trial. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills are splendid for constipation. You are welcome to use my letter if you think it will help any one." Mrs. HARRY WESTWOOD, 643 Quebec Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The expectant mother is wise if she considers carefully this statement of Mrs. Westwood. It is not one of a great many, all telling the same story—beneficial results.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for use during this period. The experience of other women who have found this medicine a blessing is proof of its great merit. Why not try it now yourself?

CHURCH PAMPHLET WRITTEN BY DR. GORE

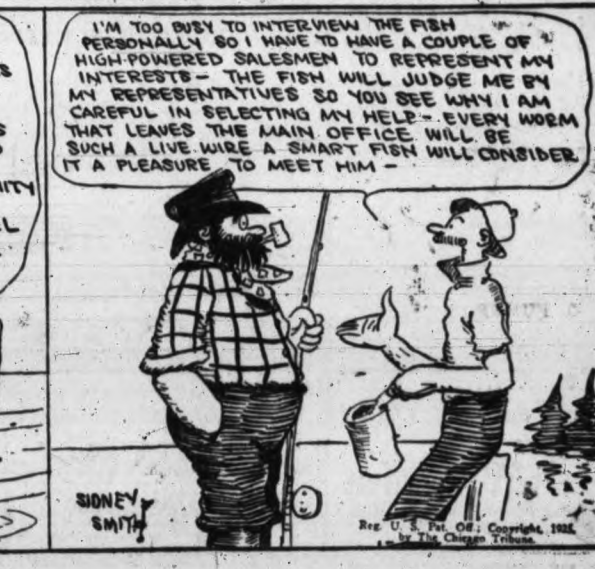

London, July 23 (Canadian Press Cable).—The extreme Anglo-Catholic party is likely to be considerably impressed by the enormous quest after a pamphlet written by Rt. Rev. Charles Gore, former Bishop of Birmingham, himself an undoubted upholder of the Catholic side of Anglicanism. Dr. Gore, in his pamphlet, utters grave warnings against the tendency to Romanize the Church of England and he insists on the restoration of church discipline.

Apropos of the question of the re-union of the Church of England and the Church of Rome, Dr. Gore says: "I can not pretend to see in any way at present an opening through the dogmatic obstacles."
